Ministry training is for every Christian.

EVERY Christian has a God-given ministry.

This mind-blowing truth has been re-discovered recently from the earlier understanding from the Reformers of the priesthood of all believers.

This usually requires training and preparation.

The health of churches depends on educated and well-equipped lay people and paid staff working together in ministry.

Christian colleges play an important role in providing resources and learning experiences.

This is our 14th edition with over 75 colleges and training centres who have responded to our invitation to list their institution.

These are listed in States. Extra copies are available. See page 14 for details.

Some colleges have also advertised to show you more of their specific features. Page numbers appear against their name in the Directory.

All colleges are listed on our informative website www.whichchristian.com.au Some identified by the weblink means you can directly log on to their site.

All colleges listed in this free guide are committed to providing excellent Christian training. Their goal is to equip Christian men and women from all denominations and age groups to be more effective in an ever changing world.

Tom Glynn

PS Please be sure to use the front panel on this Guide to direct it to the attention of other appropriate people and file it for future reference.

Some points to consider:

- Is God calling me into full time service as a minister or a missionary?
- Do I need to be better trained to be more effective in my local church?
- Is my real interest in theology, church history or biblical studies?
- Have I now the time and interest to study as a mature age student?
